

AREA Workshop „System Competition in East Asia“

Friday, 19 July 2019

Location: Ruhr-Universität Bochum, Mensa, Bistroebene, Room II

Program

- 09.00 - 09.15 Welcome and introduction
- 09.15 - 10.00 Nele Noesselt
Construction of system competition: cooperation and communication between hybrid regimes?
- 10.00 - 10.45 Liu Tao
Social insurance in China and Germany: convergence and divergence in the process of model transfer
- 10.45 - 11.15 Elisabeth De Boer
System competition related to the advent of agriculture and metallurgy to the Japanese islands:
Its influence on the linguistic map of Japan
- 11.15 - 12.00 Sven Osterkamp
New Wor(l)d Order: Japanese as a language of transnational standing in East Asia circa 1900 and its linguistic prerequisites
- Lunch
- 13.30 - 14.15 Susanne Weigelin-Schwiedrzik
The Sino-Japanese War 1894-1895 and system competition in East Asia
- 14.15 - 15.00 Florian Pölking
Narrative and argumentative patterns in the political language of North and South Korea of the 1960s.
A comparison
- 15.30 - 16.15 Christine Moll-Murata
Communist Party of China and Kuomintang: Hundred years of cooperation and conflict in written and visual sources
- 16.15 - 17.00 Christian Schwermann
The new rise of the (term) meritocracy: A harbinger of system competition?
- 17.00 - 18.00 Li Yuan and Heiner Roetz
Comments
- General discussion

All students and researchers are welcome to participate.
Please register with Christine.Moll-Murata@rub.de